Program
Summer Analyst

Job Description

Launch your career at J.P. Morgan

J.P. Morgan’s Investment Bank offers a four-week summer internship opportunity in New York for exceptional students of diverse backgrounds (Black, Hispanic, Native American and female candidates) who are about to enter their senior year of high school or their freshman year of college.

Our high school internship program introduces students to the various facets of a global investment bank and the available career paths. Students will be involved in interesting client projects, participate in our first-class training program, meet and interact with J.P. Morgan seasoned professionals and managers and work with a mentor to provide ongoing support and guidance. Students will be invited to senior leader lunches, presentations on the firm’s businesses and other exciting events. We also will provide students with an overview of our college recruiting programs in order to learn more about opportunities beyond the high school internship program.

Placement and responsibilities

Students will join us in one of three Investment Bank areas: industry groups, capital markets or advisory products. Through a series of projects and assignments, students will gain a better understanding of the industry and our firm.

As an intern, your responsibilities may include, but are not limited to:
- Performing fundamental research on companies and industries
- Creating thought pieces centered on industry trends, regulatory changes, etc.
- Preparing presentation materials and participating in client pitches
- Synthesizing and analyzing trend data
- Participating in client phone calls and meetings

Qualifications

Candidates must be on track to complete their junior or senior year in high school by June 2012. Students should have an interest in our industry, Candidates must have strong communication, analytical and quantitative skills and be able to thrive in a demanding, team-oriented environment that requires self-confidence and poise. Students should have an interest in exploring our industry. Students should be able to articulate how their diverse background will help them be successful in the internship program.
